Detroit's Museum Of Contemporary Art Closing Main Building For Renovations

The Museum of Contemporary Art Detroit (MOCAD) will close its main building until early 2026 “for major renovations and a redesigned Woodward Avenue facade of the historic Midtown building,” reports the Detroit News. “The museum will continue some programming in its Mike Kelley Homestead, the full-scale replica of the 1950s ranch-style home the renowned artist Mike Kelley grew up in... The 2,000-square-foot building is a former car dealership originally designed by Detroit industrial architect Albert Kahn.”
