💰 A boost for the arts: The Knight Foundation is giving \$19.8 million in new investment to 12 Detroit projects focused on art, technology and public spaces, following federal funding cuts that put the projects at risk. The grants will benefit the Unified Greenway Project, Black Tech Saturdays, Eastside Community Network, Detroit Horse Power, the Museum of Contemporary Art Detroit and more. Foundation leaders say the goal is to expand beyond downtown, support youth programs and boost economic opportunities across Detroit neighborhoods. (Editor's note: The Knight Foundation is a funder of Outlier Media.) (Detroit Free Press, Outlier)
